Hallo Laserdisc- und DVD-Fans, liebe Filmfreunde!

Es ist vollbracht! In einer harten Nachtschicht ist es uns gelungen, Ausgabe 203 unseres Newsletters noch rechtzeitig vor unserer Abreise nach Bradford unter Dach und Fach zu bringen. Und wie bereits angekündigt enthält diese Ausgabe nur die amerikanischen Releases, die für die nächsten Wochen angekündigt sind. Wer also nur an deutscher DVD-Kost interessiert ist, der darf diesen Newsletter getrost beiseite legen. Es sei denn, Sie möchten jetzt schon wissen, was wir zukünftig als deutsche Veröffentlichungen erwarten dürfen. Denn die Erfahrung lehrt uns, dass die Amerikaner meist nur ein paar Wochen früher mit den Titeln auf den Markt stürmen als die europäischen Vermarkter. Es gibt hier natürlich Ausnahmen, wie bei-spielsweise den von uns in einer vorigen Ausgabe angesprochenen BUBBA HO-TEP. So, aber jetzt räumen wir das Feld um noch rechtzeitig unsere Koffer zu packen und Ihnen genügend Gelegenheit zu geben, sich durch die Massen von amerikanischen Releases zu wühlen. Übrigens gelten für alle Vorankündigungen selbstverständlich wieder unsere Pre-Order-Preise, sofern uns Ihre Bestellung spätestens eine Woche vor dem amerikanischen Erstverkaufstag vorliegt. Noch Fragen? Ab dem 22. März sind wir wieder in gewohnter Weise für Sie da.

THE LIFE OF BEATRIX POTTER IS
THE MOST ENCHANTING
TALE OF ALL.

RENÉE ZELLWEGER EWAN MCGREGOR

MISS POTTER

Die verwesene Leiche eines Mädchens wird gefunden. Wer ist das Opfer? Was ist der grausam entstellten Unbekannten zugestoßen? Stilsicher und mit sehr erschütternden Wendungen beleuchtet Regisseurin Karen Moncrieff aus fünf Perspektiven den Mordfall; präsentiert uns eine bitter clevere Montage menschlicher Schicksale und Abgründe.

In einer großartigen skurrilen Anfangssequenz, die in ihrer Beklemmung von David Lynch stammen könnte, entdeckt ein von ihrer Mutter (CARRIE's Piper Laurie!) streng unterdrücktes Mauerblümchen (Toni Collette) die Tote – und schafft sozusagen im Anblick des Todes unvermittelt den Sprung in ihr eigenes Leben. In den folgenden Kapiteln lernen wir weitere am Unglück beteiligte Personen kennen: Die Medizinstudentin, die in der Frauenleiche ihre vermisste Schwester zu erkennen glaubt. Die Mutter (Marcia Gay Harden), die auf den Spuren ihrer ermordeten Tochter Wahrheiten erkennen muss, die sie nie ihren Frieden finden werden lassen. Krasser Höhepunkt und kluger Schachzug des Thrillers ist jedoch die Vorstellung des Mörders, über dessen Charakter und Taten wir weitgehend secondhand erfahren, nämlich durch die Augen seiner Frau ... Stück für Stück setzt sich das Puzzle vor uns zusammen. Nicht alle Fragen werden dabei beantwortet. Umso quälender und nachhaltiger bleibt der Film. THE DEAD GIRL ist großes Kino, nicht zuletzt dank des herausragenden Ensembles.

Arthur and the Invisibles (HD DVD)

Anthony Anderson, Chazz Palminteri - Dir.

Luc Besson

Director Luc Besson (THE FIFTH ELEMENT) tries his hand at a children's film with ARTHUR AND THE INVISIBLES. Based on a book, this adventure follows Arthur (Freddie Highmore) as he journeys in his own backyard to save his home from greedy land developers. When his grandfather disappears, Freddie follows a series of clues that lead him to the land of the Minimoy (aka the Invisibles). Arthur's entrance into their realm takes the film from live-action to computer animation, changing Arthur from a 10-year-old boy into one of the Minimoy. The elf-like people he encounters are so tiny that insects dwarf them. Their warrior princess (voiced by Madonna) is ready to ascend the throne of the tiny kingdom. But first she and Arthur must join forces to outwit the evil Malthazar (voiced by David Bowie), who is intent on destroying the kindhearted race.

Avatar: The Last Airbender - Book 2: Earth - Vol. 3

The children's cable network Nickelodeon fashions an American spin on Japanese anime with their original series AVATAR: THE LAST AIRBENDER. On a futuristic Earth torn between the warring elements of Air, Earth, Water, and Fire, only one special being known as the Avatar can bring peace to the conflicted planet. The trouble is, the Avatar is an immature 12-year-old boy called Aang, who would rather wander the world having fun-filled adventures than settle down and face his heroic destiny. Ably blending kids-oriented comedy with martial-arts action/adventure worthy of its Japanese counterparts, AVATAR continues its second cycle with five more episodes.

Gundam Wing - Complete Collection 1

This incredibly popular extension of the venerable GUNDAM series has spawned a rabid following all over the globe. The series begins as the space colonies have grown tired of the oppressive rule by the Earth government, a corrupt organization ruled by people who have no real interest in the colonists or their well-being. Their rule is unjust and unfair, but not unopposed. Resistance forces in the colonies have created five special Mobile Suits (robot-like vehicles) called Gundams. Five young pilots have been selected to sneak these Gundams down to Earth and begin a guerilla campaign that will end the Earth government's rule forever. Of course, there is also romance, albeit a rather strange one. A young woman, Relena, sees the face of one of the Gundam pilots, which is enough for him to threaten her life. However, a relationship forms between the two that causes problems for both.

Guyver - Vol. 3: Lost Number Commandos

The classic 1980s sci-fi anime series THE GUYVER receives a contemporary makeover with this 2005 remake crafted by the creative masterminds behind BUBBLEGUM CRISIS, GODDANNAR, and RAHXEPHON. Based on Yoshiaki Takaya's popular manga, the series still centers on a normal high-school student who is thrust into an epic battle of good and evil when he stumbles upon a suit of alien robot armor that transforms him into a powerful mechanized warrior. But the remake aims to follow in a more modernist tradition with stunningly stylized animation and character designs as well as amped-up levels of violence and gore. Gearing up to appeal to a whole new generation of anime fans, the remake continues with four more episodes.

Happy Feet (Full Screen)

Set in the strange and beautiful world first explored in the 2005 documentary MARCH OF THE PENGUINS, George Miller's HAPPY FEET tells the story of Mumble (Elijah Wood), a tone-deaf Emperor Penguin who is unable to sing his „heart song," the ritual required to win a mate (in this case, his beloved Gloria, voiced by Brittany Murphy). The fact that Mumble is a terrific tap dancer is completely lost on his tribe, and he spends a rather lonely adolescence as an outsider. His hero's journey involves both discovering his own innate coolness, and, more importantly, solving the mystery of the dwindling supply of edible fish in the ocean. As the latter plot takes over, the film shifts from a touching story of self-belief, to a more urgent ecological plea, but all the themes converge when Mumble's special talent saves the day.

Happy Tree Friends - Season 1: Volume 2

If Quentin Tarantino created an episode of LOONEY TUNES, HAPPY TREE FRIENDS would be the bloody result. With an animated cast populated by characters like Giggles, Cuddles, and Petunia, one might expect typically cutesy results. Instead, these animals meet their doom in creative and violent ways. These gleefully gruesome cartoons feature decapitations, eye-gouging, and dismemberments. For those that think the action of Itchy and Scratchy (of THE SIMPSONS fame) seems too tame, HAPPY TREE FRIENDS might be the solution. Hoodwinked (HD DVD)

Anne Hathaway, Glenn Close, James Belushi, Andy Dick, Patrick Warburton, David Ogden Stiers, Xzibit
This new spin on an old fable is from first-time director Cory Edwards, who also co-wrote the story and screenplay. Virtually everyone knows the story of Little Red Riding Hood, the young girl who brings a basketful of goodies to her Granny's house only to discover the Big Bad Wolf impersonating her beloved grandmother. In this digitally animated version of the classic tale, a bolder Red (Anne Hathaway) is a delivery girl for her Granny's sweets shop. The Big Bad Wolf (Patrick Warburton) is there as well, but this time he's not exactly a threat. As for Granny (Glenn Close), she's hardly frail and sickly; she has a big secret that she's keeping from everyone—including Red. Finally, there's the Woodsman (Jim Belushi), a struggling actor who drives a schnitzel-on-a-stick truck by day.

Infinite Ryvius - Collected Series

Director Goro Taniguchi (various GUNDAM series) presents INFINITE RYVIUS, a science fiction anime drama that is reminiscent of LORD OF THE FLIES and HARRY POTTER. With each of the teenage characters representing divergent viewpoints and backgrounds, INFINITE RYVIUS is also about the clash of ideas forced into close proximity with each other. Kouji and Aoi are classmates aboard the massive space station Liebe Delta, where the next generation of space workers—everyone from pilots to engineers to stewards—are trained. But a vicious act of sabotage sends the space station plummeting into the cosmic body known as the Sea of Gedalt. With the adult instructors all killed, the only hope for the many students is themselves. Taking refuge aboard the spacecraft Ryvius, they abandon the doomed station and blast off into outer space, where they will have to contend with the saboteurs, and each other, if they ever want to get home safely. Kodocha - Vol. 12: Akito's Rival

Based on a hit manga by Obana Miho, the shojo anime series KODOCHA offers a charming chronicle of childhood friendships and rivalries told through a girl's point of view. The series centers around Sana Kurata, the precocious 11-year-old child star of a popular television show who nonetheless attends grade school as a normal student. But Sana's attempt at normalcy is threatened by the juvenile antics of school bully Akito Hayama, who leads the classroom's boys in a distracting campaign of chaos and mayhem. With the help of the girls in her class and her slick, show-biz manager Rei, Sana launches an all-out battle of the preteen sexes that yields moments of goodnatured hijinks as well as unexpected romance. Sweet and funny with a strong emphasis on relationships, the comedy anime continues with this 12th volume of episodes.

Air Force

John Garfield, John Ridgely, Gig Young, Arthur Kennedy, Charles Drake, Harry Carey, George Tobias, Stanley Ridges, Moroni Olsen, Edward Brophy - Dir. Howard Hawks
The story of the crew of a B-17 Flying Fortress who encounter the Japanese after their attack on Pearl Harbor is tailor-made for director Howard Hawks, a master of men-under-pressure adventures. Featuring stirring aerial battle scenes and realistic dialogue, this film is far above the average World War II propaganda vehicle; it earned four Academy Award nominations, and won for Best Editing.

Alone With Her

Colin Hanks, Ana Claudia Talancon, Jordana Spiro, Mel Gorham - Dir. Eric Nicholas
Surveillance is often used by directors who are keen to add a voyeuristic touch to their work, and has been cleverly used as a plot device in classics such as BODY DOUBLE, THE CONVERSATION, and REAR WINDOW. In ALONE WITH HER, director Eric Nicholas (RIVER RATS) takes the theme to its logical conclusion, shooting an entire movie on cameras stashed in ingenious locations by the film's central protagonist, Doug (Colin Hanks). Doug is a dangerous loner who whiles away the hours by filming unsuspecting women on hidden cameras, ultimately developing an infatuation with Amy (Ana Claudia Talancon). But after Doug has wired up her home with cameras and microphones, he takes the ruse one step further, using the information he's garnered to align his tastes with Amy's in order to impress her at a „chance“ meeting. Naturally, Amy thinks they have a lot in common after meeting him and they begin dating, which only spurs him on to greater surveillance-related depravity.

Alpha Dog (HD DVD)

Justin Timberlake, Sharon Stone, Emile Hirsch, Anton Yelchin, Shawn Hatosy, Ben Foster, Dominique Swain, Harry Dean Stanton, Bruce Willis, Lukas Haas - Dir. Nick Cassavetes
A difficult gestation period led to Nick Cassavetes's AL-PHA DOG being delayed and facing possible legal battles after the real-life subject of the film (alleged kidnapper and murderer Jesse James Hollywood) objected to his portrayal. The cinematic version of Hollywood is named Johnny Truelove and played by Emile Hirsch (LORDS OF DOGTOWN). Truelove is a wild 18-year-old who deals drugs for a living and hangs out with his posse, who revolve around a core of Frankie (Justin Timberlake), Elvis (Shawn Hatosy), and Tiko (Fernando Vargas). When a client of Truelove's, Jake Mazursky (Ben Foster), is unable to pay off his crystal-meth debt, the group kidnaps his 15-year-old stepbrother, Zack (Anton Yelchin), who becomes a Patty Hearst-like accomplice in his own abduction. Indeed, Zack positively revels in his new position, and lives it up with the boys at every opportunity he gets. But Cassavetes's film really revs into gear as the cops close in on Truelove's band of outsiders, and they face a tough decision about what to do with Zack.

Anthony LaPaglia stars as Leo, a close-minded Chicago architect/college professor whose family is coming apart at the seams: older son Martin (Sebastian Stan) is troubled by his emerging homosexuality, Leo's 15-year old daughter (Hayden Panettiere) has begun acting out sexually in a misguided search for affection, and his high-strung wife (Isabella Rossellini) is headed towards a complete nervous breakdown. If that wasn't enough, African American activist Tonya (Viola Lee Davis) visits his classroom in an attempt to get him to sign a petition to have a housing project he designed torn down. He won't do it, claiming the building is soundly constructed, but Tonya's lived there long enough to know it's crushing the souls of its residents; her son even committed suicide to get away from it. Battlestar Galactica: Season 2.0 / Battlestar Galactica: Season 2.5

Edward James Olmos, Mary McDonnell,
Katee Sackhoff, Jamie Bamber, Tricia Helfer,
Grace Park

BATTLESTAR GALACTICA balances its striking special effects with character-driven drama and social commentary to create a show that's both entertaining and relevant. This critical favorite from Ronald D. Moore (STAR TREK: THE NEXT GENERATION) re-imagines the cult series from the 1970s with a new cast and more impressive villains. It also eschews the sunny outlook of STAR TREK in favor of a darker vision of space and humanity as it comments on issues such as terrorism and civil liberties. Androids called Cylons have massacred billions of people, leaving only a small group of survivors. Led by Oscar nominees Edward James Olmos and Mary McDonnell, the human fleet searches for a mythical planet called Earth as they evade the Cylons. This two-pack includes every episode of the second season, including the shocking finale. The second season features guest appearances from genre favorites Lucy Lawless (XENA: WARRIOR PRINCESS) and Michelle Forbes (STAR TREK: THE NEXT GENERATION).

Black Christmas (HD DVD)

Michelle Trachtenberg, Mary Elizabeth Winstead, Oliver Hudson, Kristen Cloke, Andrea Martin, Katie Cassidy - Dir. Glen Morgan
Though it was only a mild success upon its release in 1974, the original BLACK CHRISTMAS (directed by Bob Clark, who would go on to direct A CHRISTMAS STORY in 1984) has become a cult favorite among horror buffs since the dawn of the home-video era. An early example of the „body count“ genre, the film also predates WHEN A STRANGER CALLS (1979) in its use of a killer making threatening phone calls that originate within his potential victims' own house. In this remake, writer/director Glen Morgan takes the basics of Roy Moore's screenplay for the original to create an elaborate and almost comically disturbing back story for Billy, the killer who previously remained a mystery. A handful of sorority girls remain at the house after the school shuts down for Christmas break. An ominous snowstorm blows in, isolating them. At the same time, a killer—who in this version escapes from a mental institution to return to his former family home—breaks into the attic and begins making terrifying phone calls to the girls (led by Kate Cassidy, Michelle Trachtenberg, and Lacey Chabert) before killing them off one by one.

Children of Men (HD DVD)

Clive Owen, Julianne Moore, Michael Caine, Chjwetel Ejiofor, Peter Mullan, Charlie Hunnam, Pam Ferris, Danny Huston, Jacek Koman - Dir. Alfonso Cuarón
CHILDREN OF MEN is not a popcorn movie. With its almost relentlessly bleak perspective of the future, Alfonso Cuarón's film doesn't make for pleasant viewing. But it's an exhilarating experience because the picture is an incredible dystopian drama that lacks all of the typical trappings of the genre. Set uncomfortably close to the present, it paints a frighteningly realistic picture of the future. In 2027, every woman on earth is infertile. With the loss of their ability to have children, the world has also lost hope. Clive Owen (CLOSER) plays Theo, a Briton attempting to make a life in this hellish world. His estranged wife (Julianne Moore) convinces him to help transport a young woman to safety. When Theo learns that the woman is pregnant, their journey takes on a significance—and a danger—he never imagined.

Children of Men (Full Screen)

Clive Owen, Julianne Moore, Michael Caine, Chjwetel Ejiofor, Peter Mullan, Charlie Hunnam, Pam Ferris, Danny Huston, Jacek Koman - Dir. Alfonso Cuarón
CHILDREN OF MEN is not a popcorn movie. With its almost relentlessly bleak perspective of the future, Alfonso Cuarón's film doesn't make for pleasant viewing. But it's an exhilarating experience because the picture is an incredible dystopian drama that lacks all of the typical trappings of the genre. Set uncomfortably close to the present, it paints a frighteningly realistic picture of the future. In 2027, every woman on earth is infertile. With the loss of their ability to have children, the world has also lost hope. Clive Owen (CLOSER) plays Theo, a Briton attempting to make a life in this hellish world. His estranged wife (Julianne Moore) convinces him to help transport a young woman to safety. Hilary Duff, Chad Michael Murray, Amber Tamblyn, America Ferrera, Alexis Bledel - Dir. Ken Kwapis, Mark Rosman
CINDERELLA STORY: Hilary Duff plays Sam, a good-hearted Cinderella stuck in the fairy-tale-gone-wrong atmosphere of modern-day Los Angeles. Enslaved by an evil, Botox-junky step-mom (a hilarious Jennifer Coolidge), Sam is forced to scrub floors at her late father's diner, thus earning the eternal disdain of the snooty popular kids in school. Luckily, she has a friend in an artsy nerd named Carter (Dan Byrd), and a text-message romance with some poetic schoolmate she's never met. She also has a fairy godmother: the sweet diner manager (Regina King) who helps Sam get decked out and disguised for the Halloween dance. At the dance, she discovers her prince is one of the popular kids, Austin Ames (Chad Michael Murray). Happily ever after seems like a long shot, though, because Austin is burdened by pressures at school and at home, and Sam can't shake her „diner girl“ inferiority complex.

Catherine Deneuve, John Malkovich, Leonor Silveira, Luis Miguel Cintra, Duarte D'Almeida, Heloisa Miranda - Dir. Manoel DeOliveira
This latest work by the 86-year-old Portuguese writer-director Manoel de Oliveira showcases his eye for beautiful compositions, and his taste for detailed, magical narratives. And for the first time, de Oliveira works with movie stars—Catherine Deneuve and John Malkovich. An American professor and his dissatisfied wife, Héléne, journey to a remote monastery to conduct research. There, he hopes to find evidence to prove his thesis that William Shakespeare was actually a Sephardic Jew. When they arrive, the couple encounters the monastery's strange inhabitants, including the ancient building's sinister guardian, Baltar. De Oliveira suggests that one of the characters—maybe even Baltar or Héléne—is actually Satan, and develops a complex conflict between good and evil.

In 2004, Zhang Yimou caused a sensation with his astonishing HOUSE OF FLYING DAGGERS, and his CURSE OF THE GOLDEN FLOWER is yet another dazzling, visually stunning film. Calling again upon the talents of the striking Gong Li, Yimou tells an epic tale of lust and power set in the opulent world of the Later Tang dynasty. The plot follows the story of the Emperor (Chow Yun Fat) and his Empress (Li) and the tragic disintegration of their royal family—whose problems go far beyond the merely dysfunctional. For starters, the ailing Empress has long been having an affair with her stepson, the Crown Prince Wan (Liu Ye). Unbeknownst to her, Wan has been dallying with the Imperial Doctor's daughter (Li Man), and has plans to escape the palace with her. Meanwhile, the Emperor himself has just returned from a long trip, and while relations with his wife are obviously icy, it becomes clear that his plans for her are far more ominous than she could ever imagine. Everyone involved has a secret plan for either escape or domination, resulting in an explosive ending wherein the darkest family secrets are revealed and hor

The Dead Girl

Toni Collette, Brittany Murphy, Marcia Gay Harden, James Franco, Josh Brolin, Rose Byrne, Giovanni Ribisi, Kerry Washington, Mary Steenburgen, Mary Beth Hurt, Piper Laurie, Nick Searcy - Dir. Karen Moncrieff
Karen Moncrieff follows up her well-received debut feature, BLUE CAR, with THE DEAD GIRL, an impressive, haunting ensemble drama. When a young girl is found murdered, the lives of several different individuals are impacted. Some of these connections are peripheral, while many others are painfully direct. The film is broken up into five distinct chapters, each with its own title. In „The Stranger,“ Arden (Toni Collette) finds the body, much to her abusive mother's (Piper Laurie) dismay. „The Sister“ follows a graduate student (Rose Byrne) who is still mourning the disappearance of her sister along with her mother (Mary Steenburgen). Mary Beth Hurt stars in „The Wife“ as a frustrated housewife who discovers that her husband (Nick Searcy) has been up to no good. „The Mother“ features Marcia Gay Harden as a heartbroken mother who travels to Los Angeles to see how her murdered daughter lived and forms an unlikely bond with her daughter's former roommate (Kerry Washington).

Dinosaurs - The Complete Third and Fourth Seasons

Jessica Walter, Sally Struthers

Like a lot of the best family entertainment, DINOSAURS was fun for both kids and their parents. Children couldn't get enough of the slapstick humor, while adults enjoyed the show's satire of contemporary society. This 1990s sitcom centered on the Sinclairs, a family of dinosaurs led by father Earl. Though he was surrounded by devoted wife Fran, sassy daughter Charlene, and rebellious teen Robbie, the real star of the show was Baby Sinclair. The talkative tyke would famously bash his father on the head while screaming, „Not the mama!“ Jim Henson Productions brought the creatures to life, and they featured the vocal talents of sitcom stars like Jessica Walters (ARRESTED DEVELOPMENT) and Sally Struthers (ALL IN THE FAMILY). This release includes the third and fourth season of the show, plus the music video for „I'm the Baby, Gotta Love Me“ and other extras.

Atkinson, Jean Carrol, Uta Erickson, Linda
Boyce - Dir. Jesse Berger, Ron Wertheim
Sex and science fiction collide in this pair of surrealistic 1960s sexploitation films. In ELECTRONIC LOVER, a mad scientist builds a computer-like machine that will allow him, with the help of his bizarre assistant, to peep through women's windows from the comfort of a chair. But, exposed to the lurid visions that appear on his screen, his voyeuristic desires lead him to the brink of madness. In THE SPY WHO CAME, vice cop Harry Harris finds himself under the control of an opium-addicted Arab and his den of drugs and depravity. Among a harem of brainwashed sex slaves (and the Arab's brain-washing lesbian accomplice) Harry must lead a sex-slave rebellion in order to escape.

Based on the first novel in Christopher Paolini's popular INHERITANCE trilogy, ERAGON is a fantastical adventure in a vein similar to that of the LORD OF THE RINGS trilogy and THE CHRONICLES OF NARNIA. A classic story of a quest driven by destiny and set in a land where elves, magicians, and humans live side by side, the battle between good and evil, innocence and cynicism, is taken up once again. John Malkovitch camps it up as the evil King Galbatorix, a former guardian of peace who long ago went over to the dark side. He now rules over a land from which dragons have all but disappeared, until humble farm boy Eragon (newcomer Edward Speleers) happens upon a mysterious blue object that turns out to be a dragon egg.

MY FAIR LADY: A priceless classic, MY FAIR LADY has become one of the most popular musicals of all time. Based on George Bernard Shaw's 1913 play, PYGMALION, the film swept the Academy Awards. Cecil Beaton's lavish sets and costumes and Lerner and Loewe's winning score became the background for George Cukor's striking mix of styles that ranged from the fantastic to the abstract in his telling of the tale of a waif who's educated into being a lady. Egotistical linguist Professor Henry Higgins (Oscar-winning Rex Harrison) bets his friend, Colonel Hugh Pickering (Wilfrid Hyde-White), that he can transform Cockney flower girl Eliza

Doolittle (Audrey Hepburn) into a proper society lady in time for an important ball. His gamble could pay off—but the spirited Eliza is more of a handful than the professor could have predicted. As she slowly becomes more refined, and less reliant upon him, Higgins realizes, to his confusion, that he can't live without her. The film was nominated for 12 Oscars and won eight, including Best Picture and Director.

Colorful characters abound in Casablanca, a waiting room for Europeans trying to escape Hitler's war-torn Europe. Humphrey Bogart plays Rick Blaine, a cynical but good-hearted American whose café is the gathering place for everyone on the French police to the black market to the Nazis. When his long-lost love, Ilsa (Ingrid Bergman), surfaces in Casablanca with her Resistance-leader husband, Victor Laszlo (Paul Henreid), Rick is pulled into both a love triangle and a web of political intrigue. Ilsa and Victor need to escape from Casablanca, and Rick may be the only one who can help them. The question is, will he?

Most people know the story of Peter Pan, the boy who refused to grow up. Director Marc Forster's (MONSTER'S BALL) FINDING NEVERLAND delves deeper, depicting a fictionalized account of the family and events that inspired the classic tale. At the turn of the 20th Century, Scottish playwright J.M. Barrie's (Johnny Depp) latest play in London has flopped almost as badly as his marriage to stature-seeking Mary (Radha Mitchell). During one of his frequent excursions to the park with his dog, Barrie meets four young boys and their recently widowed mother, Sylvia Llewelyn Davies (Kate Winslet). Soon Barrie becomes a frequent playmate to the children, using the boys' imagination to take them on fanciful adventures. He also becomes a friend and confidante to the overwhelmed Sylvia, much to the dismay of her overbearing mother (Julie Christie). Barrie's active imagination and interaction with the family inspires „Peter Pan,“ a play that celebrates the child in everyone and the importance of believing in fantasies and miracles. A droll and amusing Dustin Hoffman appears as American Charles Frohman, Barrie's produce

Frasier - The Ninth Season

Kelsey Grammer, David Hyde Pierce, John Mahoney, Jane Leeves, Peri Gilpin

With his witty dialogue, sophisticated character development, and classic slapstick situations, FRASIER was a prime example of television comedy at its finest. Picking up the slack from the departure of CHEERS from American television in 1993, the smart sitcom centered on pompous psychiatrist and former Cheers regular Frasier Crane (Kelsey Grammer) as he started life anew as a radio talk show host in his Seattle hometown. The series' brilliant ensemble cast included his prim and proper brother, Niles (David Hyde Pierce); their gruff, retired cop father, Martin (John Mahoney); Martin's live-in home care assistant, Daphne (Jane Leeves); Frasier's brassy radio producer, Roz (Teri Gilpin); and a charismatic Jack Russell terrier named Eddie, ensuring that Frasier's life was populated with as many colorful characters as it was back East. This collection presents the beloved series' ninth season in its entirety.

F-Troop: The Complete Second Season

Forrest Tucker, Larry Storch, Ken Berry, Melody Patterson

*This 1960s sitcom/western followed the bold yet bumbling soldiers of F-Troop at Fort Courage in the days following the Civil War. Led by Captain Parmenter, a naive and wide-eyed soldier promoted to Captain due to an act of accidental heroism, the F-Troop cavalry does its incompetent best to survive in the lawless frontier. Making things easier, Parmenter's second-in-command, the crafty Sgt. O'Rourke, negotiates a deal with the local Hekawi Indians in which the cavalry and the Indians stage mock battles, but actually work together in a mutually profitable Indian souvenir business. The true threat to F-Troop comes from the warlike „Shug“ Indians who periodically raid the fort. Bringing a bit of sexpot appeal to the show, sharp-shooting cowgirl Wrangler Jane strives to marry the innocent Captain Parmenter. A lighthearted send-up of the Western genre, F-TROOP, with its irreverent anti-authority attitude, showed its ties to the sixties counterculture, and acted as a precursor to the megahit M*A*S*H.*

When two rival gangs unexpectedly meet in a warehouse in Los Angeles, violence is sure to ensue. But it's not the gang members causing the trouble in this horror film—it's the zombies. A meteor filled with a virus crashes into Los Angeles, and the results are far more grave than a simple cold. The Good Shepherd (HD DVD)

Matt Damon, Angelina Jolie, Joe Pesci, Keir Dullea, Alec Baldwin, Michael Gambon, Billy Crudup, William Hurt - Dir. Robert De Niro, Francis Ford Coppola
With THE GOOD SHEPHERD, Robert De Niro (A BRONX TALE) makes an ambitious return to the director's chair. A labor of love for Oscar-winning screenwriter Eric Roth (FORREST GUMP), the film tells an epic, fictionalized account of how the Central Intelligence Agency was born. Matt Damon plays Edward Wilson, a reserved young man who graduated from Yale in the late 1930s. His membership in the exclusive, hidden Skull and Bones society led him away from poetry and into a relationship with the federal government, who recruited him to help them on several covert operations. Roth's script alternates between Wilson's gradual emergence as a genuine government operative in the early 1940s and the infamous Bay of Pigs conflict in the early 1960s. Along the way, he has a sweet romance with a pretty deaf girl (a sparkling Tammy Blanchard) and ends up marrying the woman he impregnates (Angelina Jolie) out of a strong sense of duty. Throughout the film, the emergence of a mysterious tape haunts Wilson, who is determined to uncover the truth behind a leak in his secret organization.

Good Soldier

Susan Fleetwood, Jeremy Brett, Robin Ellis - Dir. Kevin Billington
This adaptation of Ford Madox Ford's classic novel provides a look at the duplicity that lies beneath the calm surface of a comfortable marriage. Two couples—one British, the other American—meet at a German spa. They form a pleasant friendship. But slowly this veneer of normalcy is torn away, revealing deception and infidelity. This version, aired on Masterpiece Theatre in the 1980s, maintains the novel's nonlinear structure, using flashbacks to reveal the gap between life as it is perceived, and life as it really is.

The Gospel According to St. Matthew

Enrique Irazoque, Margherita Caruso, Susanna Pasolini, Marcello Morante, Mario Socrate - Dir. Pier Paolo Pasolini
Christ's life is presented with respect for the traditional religious doctrine of the Church, but Pasolini's trademark naturalism „humanizes“ his subject and makes him his own. The documentary-style camera captures Christ's meetings with the men who were to become his disciples, the Last Supper, the betrayal by Judas, and the Crucifixion. The impassioned music of Bach, Mozart, and Prokofiev lends a further aura of spiritual intensity to the proceedings.

Meanwhile, the seemingly mad ramblings of Chloe (Penelope Cruz), one of Grey's former patients, now make more sense, and Grey must throw aside clinical logic to solve the supernatural murder mystery.

History Boys

Frances De La Tour, Stephen Campbell Moore, James Corden, Richard Griffiths, Clive Merrison, Adrian Scarborough, Russell Tovey, Penelope Wilton - Dir. Nicholas Hytner
THE HISTORY BOYS, a clever look at a British school system's attempts to produce Oxford and Cambridge-worthy graduates, is based on the play of the same title by Alan Bennett. Bennett's play provides an interesting springboard for a film about youth, growing up, education, identity, and the complexities of the student-teacher relationship. Set in Sheffield, England, in the early 1980s, the story follows a class of college-bound high-school boys as they prepare for the rigorous entrance exams. Feeling the boys need grooming beyond what the absurd Mr. Hector (Richard Griffiths) and sarcastic Mrs. Lintott (Frances De La Tour) can offer, the headmaster (Clive Merrison) brings in Mr. Irwin (Stephen Campbell Moore) to fill in the gaps. As a finishing school teacher of sorts, it becomes Irwin's job, through innovative history lessons and bold techniques, to turn children into men. But like his colleagues, Mr. Irwin is not without doubts and of his own, and his inevitable attraction to one of his students is something that he continually struggles with.

most classic (not to mention utterly unique) comedy series in television history. Set in a Nazi prison camp during World War II, the series follows a group of Allied POWs—Englishman Peter Newkirk (a pre-FAMILY FEUD Richard Dawson), Frenchman Louis LeBeau (Robert Clary), and Americans Andrew Carter (Larry Hovis) and James Kinchloe (Ivan Dixon, one of the first African-American actors to get equal billing)—led by the irrepressible Colonel Robert Hogan (Bob Crane) in their hilarious attempts to sabotage the Nazi war effort. Though often mischaracterized as a tasteless gloss on the real-life horrors of Nazi Germany (the series was set in a prisoner-of-war camp, rather than concentration camp), HOGAN'S HEROES was intended as parody and certainly pulled no punches in its unflattering depiction of idiotic Nazi officers such as the pompous Colonel Klink (Werner Klemperer), bumbling Sergeant Schultz (John Banner), and irascible General Burkhalter

Andy Lau, Tony Leung Chiu-Wai
This collection presents all three films in the blockbuster Hong Kong trilogy that inspired Martin Scorsese's Hollywood remake, THE DEPARTED. The original INFERNAL AFFAIRS (2002) follows the parallel lives of a cop (Tony Leung) working undercover as a mobster and a mobster (Andy Lau) who has infiltrated the police force. INFERNAL AFFAIRS 2 (2003) offers a prequel, while INFERNAL AFFAIRS 3 (2003) ties up loose ends. All three films are both commercially and critically acclaimed for eschewing over-the-top action in favor of a more stylized and subdued storyline that builds on emotional and psychological tension. Keoma

Franco Nero, Woody Strode, William Berger, Olga Karlatos, Donald O'Brien, Giovanni Cianfriglia, Orso Maria Guerrini, Gabriella Giacobbe, Antonio Marsina, Joshua Sinclair - Dir. Enzo G. Castellari

Franco Nero (DJANGO) stars as the title character in this unjustly forgotten spaghetti western from Italian auteur Enzo G. Castellari. Keoma, a half white, half Indian gunfighter, returns to his hometown only to find it overrun by a plague affecting much of the town. Unfortunately, the man running the town, Caldwell, will not let anyone out or any medical supplies in. After saving a beautiful woman (Karlatos) thought to be afflicted, Keoma sets about eradicating Caldwell and his men from his town. Stylish and brutal, director Castellari combines the conventions of the spaghetti western with the slow motion shootouts of Peckinpah, resulting in a wholly unique and entertaining movie.

Little Britain Live

Anthony Head, Matt Lucas, David Walliams
*An odd, distinctly British sketch show, LITTLE BRITAIN rose to become one of the most popular comedy shows in its native U.K. Starring Matt Lucas and David Walliams in a variety of guises, each sketch features a unique take on the minutiae of British life. Imitating people from various walks of life, Lucas and Walliams grotesquely exaggerate them for comedic effect; their chirpy yet deliberately irritating character, Vicky Pollard, even spawned a catchphrase that seeped into everyday use in Britain („yeah, but no, but yeah!“). In 2005 Lucas and Walliams took the show on the road, bringing many of their most popular characters to the stage on an eight-month tour.

Melrose Place - The Complete Second Season

Courtney Thorne-Smith, Daphne Zuniga, Doug Savant, Grant Show, Andrew Shue, Thomas Calabro, Marcia Cross, Josie Bissett, Heather Locklear

Creator Darren Star and executive producer Aaron Spelling followed up on the massive success of their 1990s teen drama BEVERLY HILLS 90210 with a spinoff series that went on to match its parent show's popularity (and made its Monday night timeslot a night of must-see TV). A grownup, racier version of 90210, MELROSE PLACE harkened back to the days of classic nighttime soaps like DYNASTY and DALLAS while adding a decidedly younger, hipper edge with amped-up levels of sex, betrayal, murder, and a multiple personality or two. The backstabbing action centered around a group of fashionable, affluent twentysomethings living in a stylish apartment complex on the titular L.A. strip: vulnerable ad exec Alison Parker (Courtney Thorne-Smith); her roommate/love interest, Billy Campbell (Andrew Shue); the increasingly conniving doctor Michael Mancini (Thomas Calabro); his sweetly innocent wife, Jane (Josie Bissett); her trashy stripper sister, Sydney (Laura Leighton); nice guy Jake Hanson (Grant Show); openly gay Matt Fielding (Doug Savant); tough New York transplant Jo Reynolds (Daphne Zuniga); the utterly psychotic

Mr. and Mrs. Smith (Blu-ray)

Brad Pitt, Angelina Jolie, Kerry Washington, Adam Brody - Dir. Doug Liman

Named after a 1941 Alfred Hitchcock film, MR. AND MRS. SMITH is really its own ball of flaming wax, with enough sizzling chemistry between stars Angelina Jolie and Brad Pitt to blow up a small building. He shows he is equally adept in comedy and action, and she manages to set new screen standards of bad-ass sexiness. It's impossible to dislike this pair, or a movie that makes being married seem like such insane fun. Pitt and Jolie play extremely skilled professional assassins who have managed to stay married for five years without ever realizing each other's profession because they work for rival agencies and the work is top secret. When their paths eventually cross on a high-level hit, one of the most lethal battles of the sexes in the history of cinema is officially on. Thanks to a genuinely witty script, the issue isn't who will win, but whether the couple will realize they are meant for each other before it's too late. Director Doug Liman was obviously the right choice for the material, having proved his ability to fuse engaging romance with knuckle-biting action in 2002's THE BOURNE IDENTITY. The c

Murder in Suburbia - Series 2

The taut British television crime drama MURDER IN SUBURBIA stars Caroline Catz and Lisa Faulkner as Detective Inspector Kate Ashurst, a sharp, intelligent product of upper-class schooling, and Emma Scribbins, her more intuitive, working-class partner. Together, the savvy (and sexy) pair get to the bottom of some surprisingly ugly crimes in the deceptively calm suburb of Middleford. This collection presents all six episodes of the series' entertaining second season: „Witches“, „Estate Agents“, „The Wedding“, „Salsa“, „Dogs“, and „Golden Oldies.“

Murder She Wrote: The Complete Sixth Season

Angela Lansbury

There's little doubt that Jessica Fletcher's name belongs in the fictional detectives' Hall of Fame with such legends as Sherlock Holmes, Miss Marple, and Nancy Drew. Played by Angela Lansbury, the writer-detective was the center of MURDER, SHE WROTE, a mystery series that ran for more than a decade. Lansbury earned 12 nominations (one for each season) for her smart and warm portrayal of Jessica, but she was never rewarded for her efforts. This release includes all 22 episodes of the sixth season featuring guest stars such as Jerry Stiller, Elliott Gould, Shirley Jones, and Shirley Knight.

Notes on a Scandal

Julia McKenzie, Cate Blanchett, Judi Dench, Bill Nighy, Andrew Simpson, Philip Davis, Michael Maloney, Juno Temple, Max Lewis - Dir. Richard Eyre
Dame Judi Dench and Kate Blanchett face off with searing performances in this riveting tale of obsession and desire. Based on the novel by Zoe Heller, NOTES ON A SCANDAL is the story of Barbara Covett (Dench), a hard-nosed spinster schoolteacher, and her poisonous friendship with fellow teacher Sheba Hart (Blanchett). When the young and beautiful Sheba shows up as the new art instructor, everyone is charmed by her, including the embittered Barbara. Barbara is thrilled when her lonely life is shaken up by Sheba's overtures of friendship, as Sheba invites her to share in family dinners, and opens up to her about her marital troubles and personal longing. Barbara narrates her own feelings of longing to us from her meticulous diaries, and it becomes increasingly clear that her take on the friendship is uncomfortably intense, if not borderline delusional. Things reach a fever pitch when Barbara happens upon Sheba dallying in the art room with a 15-year-old student. She tells Sheba that she must end the affair at once, but decides not to report her to the school, and instead, to use her knowledge of the indis-

Johnny Depp, Orlando Bloom, Keira Knightley, Bill Nighy, Stellan Skarsgaard, Jack Davenport, Jonathan Pryce, Kevin McNally, Naomie Harris, Tom Hollander, Lee Arenberg, Mackenzie Crook, David Baillie, David Schofield, Martin Klebba - Dir. Gore Verbinski

The second part of a trilogy, PIRATES OF THE CARIBBEAN: DEAD MAN'S CHEST is a fantastic tale of pirates, love, and the supernatural. Blacksmith Will Turner (Orlando Bloom) and his upper-class love Elizabeth Swann (Keira Knightley) are preparing to wed when they are confronted with a warrant for their arrests because they helped the notorious pirate Captain Jack Sparrow (Johnny Depp) escape the authorities. Their only choice for a pardon is to find Jack and return to Lord Cutler Beckett (Tom Hollander) with the flamboyant captain's compass. Will's attempt to track Jack down, however, becomes an adventure unto itself: Jack is being held captive on an island where the natives think he is a god. To make matters worse, the infamous Davy Jones (Bill Nighy) and his Flying Dutchman crew are after Jack, seeking his soul to repay a debt. With his beard of tentacles and a lobster claw for a hand, heartless Jones is no mere mortal. He and his men are slowly evolving, taking on the attributes of various sea creatures, and with the help of a giant sea monster, the Kraken, they rule the waters.

Loosely inspired by the time-honored Disney theme-park ride, PIRATES OF THE CARIBBEAN: THE CURSE OF THE BLACK PEARL is a swashbuckling high-seas tale directed by Gore Verbinski. When Captain Jack Sparrow (Johnny Depp), an eccentric rogue, arrives at Port Royal, he barely avoids going down with his ship. Soon enough, he's in the market for a new one, but not before he saves the life of Elizabeth Swann (Keira Knightley), the beautiful daughter of the governor (Jonathan Pryce). Treat Williams, Jerry Orbach, Richard Froyonj, Lindsay Crouse - Dir. Sidney Lumet Lumet's complex and operatic film commences with just such a deal, with Danny Ciello (played with swaggering magnetism by Treat Williams) and his squad busting a group of Colombian drug lords and netting themselves a clean $48,000 on the side. When Ciello is called in for questioning by the Chase Commission investigating police corruption—like Serpico before him—the seeds of doubt and guilt lead him into a dangerous game of truth and lies as he begins to inform on his colleagues. At first the adrenaline gleaned from the illegal activities of the SIU carries over to the equally dangerous tasks of ensnaring his fellow cops; however, as the countdown to redemption and revenge becomes fever-pitched, Ciello's resolve begins

The Queen

Helen Mirren, Michael Sheen, James Cromwell, Sylvia Syms, Alex Jennings, Roger Allam, Helen McCrory - Dir. Stephen Frears
Helen Mirren delivers a royally stirring performance as Queen Elizabeth II in Stephen Frears's fictional romp, THE QUEEN. The year is 1997, and Great Britain has a newly elected prime minister, the youthful, optimistic Tony Blair (Michael Sheen). In Buckingham Palace, the Queen doesn't appear to be fazed by Blair's arrival. Then again, she doesn't appear to be fazed by anything. But when Diana—her son's ex-wife and the mother of her grandchildren—is killed in a tragic car accident, her authority is tested as never before. While the Queen Mother (Sylvia Syms) and Prince Philip (James Cromwell) agree with her decision to remain at their holiday estate in Balmoral and not publicly acknowledge the tragedy, Tony Blair feels differently. Unfortunately, so do the English people. Making matters worse is the out-of-control media, which has begun to castigate the queen for her silence. In order to retain her grip on the country that she has served for so many years, she must swallow her pride and let the world know that she does, in fact, care.

Revenge

Kevin Costner, Anthony Quinn, Madeleine Stowe, Sally Kirkland - Dir. Tony Scott
Retired United States Navy pilot Jay Cochran (Kevin Costner) is looking forward to spending his days relaxing at his cabin in the countryside. First, however, he plans to visit his rich and powerful friend Tibey (Anthony Quinn) on his Mexican estate. Tibey's violent temper and shady business dealings make him a dangerous man. His young trophy wife, the doe-eyed and melancholy Miryrea (Madeleine Stowe), yearns for motherhood and finds her marriage to this older man who does not want any more children unfulfilling. Despite his friendship with Tibey, Cochran finds himself drawn to Miryrea and they begin an illicit affair, risking Tibey's wrath each time they meet. Eventually, their luck runs out and the two are forced to face the consequences of their actions as a cycle of revenge begins. Neither Cochran nor Miryrea realize how vicious Tibey can be until it is too late. Filmed on location in Mexico and California, director Tony Scott's (THE HUNGER, CRIMSON TIDE) fifth film opens with a flying sequence in homage to TOP GUN, his top grossing 1986 film.

Rio Escondido

Maria Felix, Domingo Soler, Carlos Lopez Moctezuma, Fernando Fernandez - Dir. Emilio Fernandez

A monumental achievement of the Mexican cinema, RIO ESCONDIDO is notable in a number of respects. It was directed by Emilio Fernandez, historically one of the most important Latin American filmmakers, at the height of his success and popularity. The star is Maria Félix, an actress with iconic status in Mexico, and the villain is played by Carlos López Moctezuma, who won an Ariel (the Mexican equivalent of the Oscar) for his role in the film. The influence of Sergei Eisenstein on Fernandez is manifest in the film, with a story of poverty-stricken villagers being exploited by a cruel governor. Félix plays a teacher sent by the President to investigate the horrible living conditions and corrupt bureaucracies of the countryside. She arrives in Ciudad Juarez, where greedy thug (López Moctezuma) has seized control of the town and terrorizes its populace. The teacher educates the townspeople in how to defend themselves and battle the villainous mayor. RIO ESCONDIDO is a story of social justice made by some of the giants of Mexican cinema.

Rocky Balboa

Sylvester Stallone, Antonio Tarver, Burt Young, Milo Ventimiglia, Tony Burton, Geraldine Hughes, James Francis Kelly, Bert Sugar, Max Kellerman, Larry Merchant, Jim Lampley

ROCKY BALBOA, the sixth installment of the long-running film franchise, should amount to nothing more than a lame punch line to a TONIGHT SHOW monologue joke. However, just as his longtime corner man Paulie describes the Italian Stallion himself, this movie is all heart. Thirty years after Sylvester Stallone first introduced the underdog backroom brawler from Philadelphia in the Oscar-winning ROCKY, Rocky Balboa returns for one last dance. Speculation as to whether Balboa, in his prime, would have been able to defeat lackluster champ Mason „The Line“ Dixon spurs Dixon's management to set up an exhibition fight between the two. That Balboa is in his 50s in the film and wouldn't be sanctioned to fight anyone, let alone a man 30 years his junior and in the prime of life, must be left up to the viewer's ability to suspend disbelief. To its credit, however, the movie addresses at every turn the insanity of a man approaching 60 getting back into a boxing ring, and Balboa's impassioned explanation of his motivations is just believable enough to give all other improbabilities a free pass.

Roseanne - The Complete Seventh Season

Roseanne, John Goodman, Martin Mull, Sara Gilbert, Laurie Metcalf, Estelle Parsons, Glenn Quinn, Johnny Galecki, Sarah Chalke

One of the major family sitcoms of the late 1980s/early 1990s, ROSEANNE became popular for its no-nonsense attitude and its humorously honest portrayal of American life. With a set resembling the living room of countless family homes across the United States, the show concerned itself with the antics of its main star, Roseanne Barr, her husband Dan (John Goodman), and their kids. More like a regular working-class family than any other characters previously seen on television, the Illinois-bred Connors use brutal honesty and acerbic wit to raise their three children: rapidly maturing Becky, sarcastic Darlene, and precocious DJ. Meanwhile, they have to deal with the typical problems of an American family, such as annoying relatives, worries about jobs and money, and the struggle to find time for themselves. ROSEANNE was among the first shows on television to deal in a truthful and deglamorized way with everyday issues that average viewers could relate to—and it managed to remain funny and touching while doing so. Each uncut episode from the show's seventh season is included here.

A fine supporting cast, led by Rip Torn as cantankerous producer Artie and Jeffrey Tambor as Larry's insecure sidekick Hank, helped to earn the program numerous Emmys and Cable Ace Awards. Scrubs - The Complete Fifth Season

Zach Braff, Donald Faison, Sarah Chalke, Judy Reyes, John C. McGinley, Ken Jenkins, Neil Flynn, Robert Maschio, Aloma Wright

With its deft combination of humor and heart, this single-camera sitcom is a both a critical and cult favorite. SCRUBS stars Zach Braff as J.D., an eager doctor at Sacred Heart Hospital. With J.D. as its narrator, the show frequently dips into surrealism as it shows his strange thoughts and daydreams. The rest of the characters on SCRUBS are equally eccentric: best friend Turk (Donald Faison), bossy nurse Carla (Judy Reyes), J.D.'s reluctant mentor Dr. Cox (John C. McGinley), the anxiety-ridden ex-girlfriend Elliot (Sarah Chalke), and J.D.'s arch nemesis, known simply as „Janitor“ (Neil Flynn). With guest stars such as Jason Bateman and Cheryl Hines, the fifth season earned an Emmy nod for Best Comedy Series. Sleeping Dogs Lie

Melinda Page Hamilton, Bryce Johnson, Geoffrey Pierson, Colby French, Jack Plotnick, Bonita Friedericy, Brian Posehn, Morgan Murphy, Steve Agee - Dir. Bobcat Goldthwait

Bobcat Goldthwait, the frantic, shrieking comedian who gained fame in several POLICE ACADEMY films, follows up his debut feature as a writer-director—1992's SHAKES THE CLOWN—with SLEEPING DOGS LIE, a surprisingly tender romantic black comedy. Melinda Page Hamilton gives a terrific lead performance as Amy, a young woman with a deep, dark secret, something very stupid that she did in college. Eight years later, as her relationship with John (Bryce Johnson) intensifies, she considers telling him what she did, as he believes in total honesty. When she finally does, her entire world comes crashing down. Her rather strange mother (a very funny Bonita Friedericy) and hunk of a father (Geoff Pierson) won't speak to her; her drug-addicted loser of a brother, Dougie (Jack Plotnick), revels in her failure and agony; and John is not sure he can spend the rest of his life with someone who has committed such an outrageous act, even if it was a silly mistake that she regrets. Amy, a teacher, finds solace in Ed (Colby French), a coworker going through his own marital problems, but everyone else has abandoned her.

can hope to deliver. Stylistically electrifying, the film combines filmmaking techniques from the 1960s with a modern jolt of blood and violence, resulting in a work that feels completely fresh and new. The story itself is simple enough: a lower-class boy, Dum, falls in love with a wealthy girl, Rumpoey, but their social differences keep them apart. Years later, Dum returns home only to discover that his father has been murdered by a gang of brutal outlaws. Traumatized by this event, Dum becomes a renegade bandit who will stop at nothing to avenge his father's death. When he reconnects with Rumpoey, she's slated to marry the policeman who has been trying to track down Dum. On her wedding day, Dum (aka Black Tiger) takes matters into his own hands so he can fulfill his dream of being with Rumpoey once and for all.

Hearing that Cisco is living in Mexico, Burt rounds up his little brother to accompany him through Mexico as he searches for Cisco in order to exact his revenge. However, Cisco has turned himself into the despot of a small rural town, controlling its citizens with fear and the small army he has accumulated over the years. Violent, operatic, and wickedly funny, TEXAS, ADDIO turns the familiar revenge plot of so many westerns into something completely alien, a grandly scaled riff on the genre that is hugely entertaining.

Thieves Like Us

Schuck, Bert Remsen, Louise Fletcher, Ann Latham, Tom Skerritt, Joan Tewkesbury - Dir. Robert Altman
*THIEVES LIKE US, director Robert Altman's remake of Nicholas Ray's THEY LIVE BY NIGHT—a 1949 adaptation of the Raymond Chandler novel—is an authentic, understated drama that is as much a love story as it is a gangster picture. Taking place in the South during the 1930s Depression, the film follows the exploits of three recent prison escapees who become wanted after a string of bank robberies. The hapless criminals—Bowie (Keith Carradine), Chicamaw (John Schuck), and T-Dub—shack up at the home of Dee Mobley (Tom Skerritt), where Bowie falls in love with Dee's daughter Keechie (Shelley Duvall). Soon, Keechie in tow, the foursome settles at Mattie's (Louise Fletcher) house. Eventually, Bowie and Keechie move in together and struggle to maintain their relationship while Chicamaw and T-Dub do their best to stay out of trouble, but before they can perform one final robbery, the law threatens to put them out of commission. Altman tells an honest story of ordinary people who fell into a life of crime because it was the only thing they knew how to do. He also incorporates a ROMEO AND JULIET radio sho

The Third Man (Special Edition)

Orson Welles, Joseph Cotten, Alida Valli, Trevor Howard, Wilfrid Hyde-White, Bernard Lee, Geoffrey Keen, Martin Miller - Dir. Carol Reed
*Carol Reed reached the peak of his form with this classic noir, an elegy for American innocence and European elegance. Joseph Cotten, in fine form, stars as unemployed pulp-novelist Holly Martins. When he arrives in post-WWII Vienna on the promise of a job from his old friend Harry Lime (Orson Welles), he finds that Lime has recently died in a dubious car accident. Against the advice of British sector authority Major Calloway (Trevor Howard), who accuses Lime of criminal behavior, the indignant Martins decides to stay to investigate his friend's death. He searches this city of rubble-strewn streets and bombed-out buildings, earnestly questioning Lime's associates, a cynical, war-weary collection of black-market hustlers. At length, he realizes that the stories he's hearing are so full of contradiction, he's getting nowhere. Yet, he's entranced by Lime's beautiful girlfriend, Anna Schmidt (Alida Valli), who, unlike the others, seems to have loved Harry. Calloway finally provides evidence of Harry's treachery, and Martins, despondent, is about to return home when everything changes in a shadowed moment. T

Angelina Jolie is perfectly cast as the voluptuous title character, a tough, sexy, heavily-armed archaeologist who travels the world in search of lost relics, battling an arsenal of monsters, villains, and pitfalls along the way. In the first film, mercenaries invade Lara's hi-tech mansion and steal an ancient relic, forcing her to journey to various international locations—including Cambodia, Italy, and the Arctic Circle—to retrieve the strange object and discover its mysterious properties. In the film's sequel, THE CRADLE OF LIFE, Lara has made perhaps the most important archaeological discovery in history: an orb that leads to the mythical Pandora's Box. Unfortunately, the orb falls into the hands of an evil scientist who deals in killer viruses and hopes to sell the secrets of the box as the ultimate weapon. Van Wilder: The Rise of Taj

Anthony Cozens, Kal Penn, Holly Davidson, Daniel Percival, Amy Steel, Steven Rathman - Dir. Mort Nathan
The legacy of perpetual college party-man Van Wilder lives on in NATIONAL LAMPOON'S VAN WILDER 2: THE RISE OF TAJ, as his former apprentice Taj Mahal Badalandabad (Kal Penn) takes the torch to jolly old England, where he is continuing his education at stuffy Camford University. At first things look bleak for Taj, despite his gleaming newfound confidence and hip makeover from his days at Coolidge College, as he is rejected by the prestigious fraternity, Fox and Hounds, and ends up boarding with a group of misfits. Driven to live up to his former mentor's good name and also to make his father proud, Taj sets out to prove his big-man-on-campus potential by unabashedly leading his outcast housemates in an attempt to defeat the wealthy elite of Camford in a range of competitions for the coveted Hastings Cup.

Venus

Peter O'Toole, Leslie Phillips, Jodie Whittaker, Vanessa Redgrave, Beatrice Savoretti, Phillip Fox
Screen legend Peter O'Toole stars in this moving story of an elderly actor and his somewhat questionable relationship with a teenage girl. Maurice (O'Toole) and his friend Ian (Leslie Phillips) are two classy curmudgeons whiling away their hours in coffee shops and at the theater, but their routine is thrown for a loop when Ian's niece's daughter Jessie (Jodie Whittaker) is sent from the country to act as his nurse. Jessie shows up on the scene sullen and pouty, immediately drinking all the liquor in the house and slouching her way from room to room. But Maurice befriends her, taking her to museums and getting her a gig as an art model, and along the way he openly expresses the lust she has awakened in him. Jessie's brash rejections of his affections are at first as amusing as they are awkward. When she starts to allow him small pleasures—like kissing her bare shoulders or caressing her hands—the film enters into some uncomfortable, complicated territory, but it is deftly navigated by Hanif Kureishi's sharp screenplay, and O'Toole's heartbreaking performance.

Fast cars, fast women, sex, drugs, and rock and roll, with guns and ammo thrown in for good measure—that was the world of porn star John Holmes in Los Angeles in the 1970s. But everything came tumbling down in June 1981 when he was accused of taking part in a multiple murder that forms the basis of James Cox's dizzying WONDERLAND. Val Kilmer, who previously embodied rock lead singer Jim Morrison in THE DOORS, transforms himself into the famous porn celebrity in this excitingly sordid tale of excess, which is told from the point of view of several different players, echoing Akira Kurosawa's RASHOMON. Under the stage name Johnny Wadd, Holmes was rumored to have had sex with more than 14,000 women in some 1,000 X-rated films; his dangerous life caught up with him when he died of AIDS in 1988. Cox has assembled an unlikely cast for this lurid story, including such well-known television stars as Lisa Kudrow (FRIENDS), Dylan McDermott (THE PRACTICE), and Christina Applegate (MARRIED WITH CHILDREN), in addition to Carrie Fisher, Janeane Garofalo, and Eric Bogosian, among others. Elvis Presley - He Touched Me: The Gospel Music of

Elvis Presley
Elvis is known for being the King of Rock 'n Roll, but there was, in fact, a spiritual side to him. Some of his later pop hits were definitely tinged with a gospel feel, but on this amazing release, Elvis performs over thirty pure gospel songs. Along with beautifully moving performances, HE TOUCHED ME also provides insight into the King's life and personality. In interviews with friends, Elvis becomes a more fully formed man, emerging from the two-dimensional caricature that the general public will recognize.

Matthew Barney: No Restraint

From 1995 to 2002, avant-garde artist Matthew Barney wrote, directed, and starred in the Cremaster Cycle, five offbeat films featuring unusual situations and bizarre characters. Since 1987, he has also been working on the Drawing Restraint series, in which he uses physical weights and barriers to make the creation of his art more difficult—and more rewarding in the end. In 2005 he released DRAWING RESTRAINT 9, a film about a man (Barney) and a woman (Björk, Barney's real-life wife) who board a Japanese whaling ship and participate in some strange rituals and ceremonies involving a tank filling up with 45,000 pounds of petroleum jelly. Director Alison Chernick documents the making of DRAWING RESTRAINT 9 in MATTHEW BARNEY: NO RESTRAINT, mixing in clips from the film, behind-the-scenes interviews, and home-movie footage of Barney playing high-school football. She also examines Barney's entire career, speaking with gallery owner Barbara Gladstone, New York Times art critic Michael Kimmelman, Guggenheim curator Nancy Spector, and Yuko Hasegawa, chief curator of the 21st Century Museum of Contemporary Art i

Deep Sea (IMAX)

The wondrous denizens of the diverse marine habitat known as a coral reef are the subject matter of Howard Hill's DEEP SEA 3-D (originally an IMAX presentation). Exploring the reefs throughout the Pacific, Hill's cameras capture a rare close-up glimpse of turtles, shrimp, scallops, sharks, eels, starfish, jellyfish, octopuses, and much more. Thematically, the film examines the balance of life and symbiosis between these creatures. There are the hunters and the hunted, yet there is always another species that keeps the hunters in check, too. Similarly, some species of smaller fish eat by feeding on sea material that collects on some larger fish, which also cleans the larger fish's scales. The continued and necessary persistence of this activity is quite important to the collective survival of the animals, the reef and, indeed, all of humanity. Narrated almost conversationally by Johnny Depp and Kate Winslet, DEEP SEA 3-D is a thrilling, intimate, and educational look at the unknown depths of the world underwater; enjoyable for kids and adults of any age.

Extreme Private Eros Love

This provocative documentary by Japanese filmmaker Kazuo Hara takes an intimate look at his former lover, Takeda Miyuki. Using the camera as a basis for continued interaction, Hara probes the dissolution of their relationship, and Miyuki's place as a feminist and bisexual within the traditional confines of 1970s Japan. With startling closeness, this film breaks down the wall between filmmaker and subject, marking its place as an essential and powerful work of Japanese cinema.

Favela Rising

Jeff Zimbalist and Matt Mochary's documentary is a major achievement in nonfiction filmmaking, a vibrant, important work that is as inspiring as it is tragic. The narrative centers on Anderson Sá, a distinguished-looking young man who grew up in the worst of Rio de Janeiro's infamously violent favelas, Vigário Geral. Though most residents of this extremely impoverished community do their best to cobble together a piecemeal living, the neighborhood is ruled over by murderous drug lords, whose average age of death is between 14 and 25 years old. In 1993, after one of these men murdered a few notoriously corrupt cops, the military police retaliated by brutally, and randomly, murdering 21 innocent favela residents. One of these victims was Sá's younger brother. Rather than allow the anger and despair to propel him into a place of darkness and revenge, Sá decided to stop the cycle of violence, using the universal language of music as his conduit to social awareness and rebellion. Mobilizing like-minded friends and musicians, he started a newsletter and a band to perform his upbeat, yet courageously hones
